

Rajasekaran Sankaran

Senior General Manager
Retail Operations, Vivriti Capital

Tell us a bit about your journey at Vivriti

I joined Vivriti Capital in November 2021 and at that time there were only 3-4 employees in Operations who were taking care of the entire onboarding of the customers, ranging from disbursement to collection. Since then, there has been massive growth across all platforms and portfolios, and currently, we are a team of 30-40 employees.

What sets Vivriti apart as a brand?

I love everything about Vivriti! Instead of doing monotonous work every day, we are given the opportunity to learn on the job and do something different. Vivriti would be the right place to work for people who are ambitious and curious to learn.

How does the operations team contribute to the business at Vivriti?

The operations vertical is the fulcrum of any business, and we are an enabler as a function. We support multiple teams such as credit, risk, and finance in carrying out their day-to-day functions seamlessly. We enable other functions and that helps us learn more about other business functions.

Why must one join Vivriti?

If you have the right ambition and mindset to learn, then Vivriti is the place to be. Vivriti promotes an open culture, where you have direct access to anyone in the organization. Employees in the organization are given equal opportunities, irrespective of the role they hold in the company. This is a place that encourages collaboration between teams and supports employees in their career growth.